

Summer Connections: Literacy

Lloyd Harbor School

Summer Reading Celebration 2012

Incoming Fifth Graders

Lloyd Harbor School is a community of readers and writers. We anticipate that our students will regularly read books that are a good personal fit, continue to enjoy favorite authors, and find new authors and books to inspire and entertain throughout the summer months. Please refer to the attached list of titles that children have enjoyed in the past. Reading choices can also be found on the District website at www.csh.k12.ny.us under Lloyd Harbor/Home Communications.

As part of a school-wide literacy celebration of summer reading, all students are asked to return in September, ready to share their thoughts on a particular book selected for their grade. The fifth grade teachers have chosen the book, to explore in the first weeks of school. Please refer to the reverse side for a brief synopsis of this book.

Henry and the Kite Dragon, by Bruce Edward Hall

Students can take notes, highlight, and/or use sticky notes to help them to remember what they would like to discuss. They may complete the attached response form for this purpose as well.

We are looking forward to learning from each other about the books we have read when we return in the fall.

Happy Summer Reading!
